

CHAPTER V

CLOSING

5.1 Conclusion

By doing research there are some conclusions from research objectives that have been carried out as follows:

1. With this information system, the user / cooperative savings and loan to simplify the process and report data search process required by the cooperation.
2. System Save the loan can be used to display information about credit unions lely like, displays data members, displaying the savings and loans, processing savings and loans, the installments, and the withdrawal process but it is also used to process the print member, print savings and loan, print installments and print withdrawal.

5.2 Suggestlon

The advice on the use of systems that have been made are as follows :

1. For further research is expected to develop the co-operative program to record transactions such as distributions of Business, recording cash in and cash out.
2. Training needs to be held for users of the savings and loan cooperative application so that users are expected to get sufficient skills to run this application properly.