

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION

5.1 Summary

A website is more or less similar with the other media of promotion. It needs to be promoted, and the content has to be as effective as a team of developer can manage. By looking at the Bontang City Choir website system in general, one is able to take the conclusion(s) that:

1. The website design is running normally.
2. The website can be accessed online, because it has been registered in a domain name and online hosting, to the authors preference.
3. The system helps user to find out more related information easily.
4. It is more efficient for the staff to use as a promoting system. Efficient in a way that it is easy, and could save more time in process.

5.2 Suggestion

The author hopes that in the result of this project, not only the author that gains more knowledge, but the staff, members, and any potential party also benefits from the project, and can be able to use it in progress of time. To the staff of Bontang City Choir, the author provides some suggestion or feedback as follows:

1. To make the information delivery more up-to-date, it is best to also update the news as fast and often as possible.

2. It is best that the staff would be able to maximize the potential of this website in the future.

If there are mistakes and error during the process of this project until the time it finishes and implemented, the author is much more than welcome to receive more feedback and suggestions for improvements.
