CHAPTER V

DISCUSSION

5.1 Conclusion

Based on the analysis and discussion that has been done it can be concluded against the system that has been created as follows:

1. Availability of media promotion, information and ordering products online at Folken Clothing stores Yogyakarta.

2. Folken distributions customers can use this online purchasing system by accessing _website_ Folken Clothing Yogyakarta.

3. The availability of online sales this media can facilitate Folken Clothing store customers to order products Yogyakarta.

5.2 Suggestion

Perfection is always relative of a system based on the perspective and the concept of every thought that is different and has a varied groove. Because the system is built based on the flow of thought writer, for better results and maximum required advice and criticism from any party to supplement the shortage. Based on the above conclusions the authors suggest the following:

1. Development of Android-based online store.

2. Users are more attractive web templates.

3. Extra features of the payment method.

So suggestions that the authors convey in order to be accepted as input and can be used as the supporting advancement of web-based sales information system in the future.